Former Backpacker's Costa Rica Haven turned into Organic Five-Star Villa Destination

PR NEWswire

Posted: 2008-12-03 08:19:22

BEVERLY HILLS, CA, Dec. 3 /PRNewswire/ - Only a few years ago, Peninsula Papagayo in Costa Rica was a hidden natural wonderland, kept secret by backpackers, surfers and other ecotourists. Today it is one of the world's most organic luxury villa destinations, rich in biodiversity, surrounded by soothing spas, pools, sumptuous dining spots, and world class golf and tennis.

"Peninsula Papagayo is best defined as organic luxury," says Wolf Worster, luxury villa rental agent. "World class amenities and adventure are offered amidst a backdrop of beautiful beaches, lush vegetation, howler monkeys, and colorful hermit crabs. Nothing is contrived. Ultimate luxury is balanced with a respect to the culture and ecosystem of the land."

Located 174 miles northwest of San Jose, on the Pacific Coast with average temperatures 86 degrees F, Peninsula Papagayo sees less yearly rainfall than most other Costa Rican regions. A mere 30 minutes from Liberia's new international airport, it was formed by volcanic activity and sculpted by wind, rain and sun. The expanse and diversity of this unspoiled land includes 15 miles of coastline, 14 miles of bluff edges, 31 separate beaches of white, coral, gray and black sands. Part sophisticated resort, part primitive playground; the 2300 acre paradise fulfills a dream envisioned by the Costa Rican government 25 years ago to introduce the natural treasures of this rich land to an international audience.

The villas have high construction standards and use indigenous materials that blend with the natural flora. Furnishings feature natural fibers and textures. "Your villa concierge can arrange an indulgent spa experience; reserve a tee time on the Arnold Palmer signature golf course, surfing lessons and volcano hikes. Peninsula Papagayo has become one of the most secretly celebrated villa escapes in the entire world", says Worster.

Wolf Worster Associates is an independent luxury villa service that provides short-term high-end property rentals throughout the world. "Think of us as head hunters for the best vacation estates in the world", says Worster. "Our focus is our clients, and finding them the most suitable villa - worlds away from the standard list of homes one can find at any number of websites."
